

From Ennis, and living in Cork, Brian has been a reporter on Today with Sean O'Rourke for several years, covering issues as diverse as religious devotion, antisocial behaviour, adoption rights and asylum seekers.

Brian has been shortlisted for four PPI Radio Awards between 2013 and 2014, winning News Story of the Year both years running. Brian also works with RTE Investigates and his book, Wasted, published in 2009, examined Ireland's relationship with alcohol.

Apart from his weekly reporting on Today with Sean O'Rourke, Brian is currently developing a television series on teenage addiction and a 4-part BAI funded radio series for RTE Radio 1 on how rural Ireland has changed in the past century.

Twitter: @oconnellbrian

Email: boconnell@rte.ie